Nelly's Daily routine

This is Nelly. She's a nurse. She's tall and thin. She works at the hospital and she looks after sick people.

She gets up at six o'clock in the morning. She takes a shower and puts on her clothes. Then, she eats breakfast at half past six. At seven o'clock, she drives her car to work, the hospital.

Nelly starts at eight o'clock at the hospital. She cleans the rooms, then she helps the doctors. At twelve o'clock, she has lunch. Finally, she goes home at five o'clock.

At home, she takes a shower and she cooks dinner. Dinner is at half past six in the evening. Then, she watches her favorite show on TV. At ten o'clock she goes to bed and finally rest.

1. What's her name? Where does she work?

2. What time does she get up?

3. How does she get to her work?

4. Does she cook dinner at the hospital?

5. According to you: What is your daily routine? Write in 100 words about your daily routine.

The idea is that you answer the questions properly and complete, for example:

Q: Does Nelly work at the school?

A: No, Nelly works at the hospital.
